

Deschutes Estuary potential restoration habitats

A recreated Deschutes River Estuary would feature mostly mud flats at low tide with a sandy river channel running through it and a thin perimeter of salt marsh plants in portions of the north and middle basins, according to scientists.

Source: Deschutes Estuary Feasibility Study
Alan Kenaga/The Olympian